IV. Library Report

Julia introduced the Library's new vision statement and logo. Universal support from Board for the Library's work on this.

Board reiterated their desire to meet with Diane this year (Nov or Dec) to discuss how we can best advocate against future cuts, and how we can best help maintain services after the recent cut in funding.

V. Open Discussion:

Judith Kindell explained that under federal tax law, FOAL could engage in legislative advocacy so long as it was not a substantial part of our activities. In making the determination of what is substantial, the IRS would currently look at all the “facts and circumstances” which would include expenditures and volunteer time that would need to be tracked. However, FOAL could make an election to be covered by the “expenditure test” for this year and in the future so that we have to track all expenses related to advocacy. We would still be prohibited from favoring or opposing candidates for public office, as this applies only for legislative advocacy. Under this test, the limit is a declining percentage of exempt purpose expenditures that starts at 20% of the first $500,000, with a total limit of $1 million. She did the research and we can do it mid-year and so she made the motion to make the election to use the “expenditure test”. Kelly seconded it, and the Board unanimously approved it. Judith provided Martin Pippins with a copy of Form 5768 to make the election.

Adjourned: 8:33 pm

- VI. On October 9, 2018, via email, the Board approved adding Everybody Wins DC to the list of groups who receive $50 worth of free books on Sunday. Acceptance was proposed in a motion by Kate Schweigert, seconded by Kate Summers and approved by the Board. Voting: Laura Porter, Kelly Fado, Rob Hizon, Sharon Meister, Nada Sulaiman, Marty Pippin, Claire Christian.

Board Decisions in October 2018:

- Approval of September minutes
- Approval of request by Joni Sterne to purchase protective folios for sheet music up to $200.
- Approval to elect to use “the expenditure test” so that when we engage in advocacy we only need to track our expenses.
- Four groups for $50 in free books on Sunday: ASPAN, Arlington Free Clinic, Prison Ministries, Everybody Wins DC.
